60 MINUTE COURSE
PRESENTATION

PRESENTED
BY WENGER
CORPORATION

So often, the athletic support spaces are overlooked during the planning phases. During this presentation participants will learn how to design appropriate spaces to safely, securely and efficiently store athletic apparel and equipment. Communication and implementation methods of how to distribute these design ideas to your end users, customers, school boards and educators will be reviewed and discussed. During this presentation you will have the opportunity of learning how to:

Improve the overall program function with support spaces in athletic areas. This portion of the course will focus on accessibility, sanitation, safety liabilities, security issues and building HVAC and mechanical requirements.

Analyze design considerations to facilitate the extreme requirements of athletic equipment with an emphasis on space utilization, safety, accessibility, sanitation, security and the welfare of staff and athletes.

Understand how design, building materials and equipment affect health, safety and sanitation. Detailed design ideas will be discussed with participants to ensure cleanable facility layouts are implemented to promote reduction of mold, mildew, and bacteria, creating a healthy and safe environment for staff and athletes.

Discuss design considerations that promote a consistent presentation of program pride and image resulting in a positive experience for building users. Participants will focus on the impact of improved accessibility, organization and athletic program traditions.
