EQUIPMENT ROOM FLEXIBILITY STARTS WITH GEARBOSS

Traditional wire cages and stationary shelves don't provide the flexibility athletic programs need to function efficiently. Too often these spaces become such a jumble of boxes and bins that no one knows what the program has or needs. GearBoss by Wenger is designed to adjust as your programs change and to be flexible for any coach or equipment manager to reconfigure to his/her own organizational style.

- The GearBoss system is flexible enough to fit any space, to be used by any staff member, and to fit many types of gear
- GearBoss is so flexible you can move the entire system to a new or renovated facility
- GearBoss allows you to maintain high density storage, even when equipment changes from season to season
- Shelves and garment bars adjust in 1" increments
- Cubbies and accessories provide further flexibility

Each coach has a different organizational style. Each season has different equipment requirements and every space is different, you need a storage system that is flexible enough to address all of these issues. GearBoss by Wenger brings you the flexibility you desire while still maintaining the organization and inventory management needed to run your program efficiently.

"I like the flexibility of the carts, and the ability to configure the shelves, hangers and garment bars to best suit our needs."
