VERSALITE® ADAPTABILITY FOR ALL YOUR NEEDS

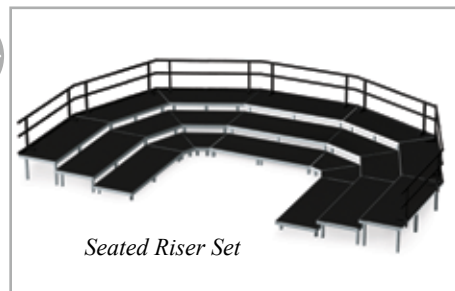

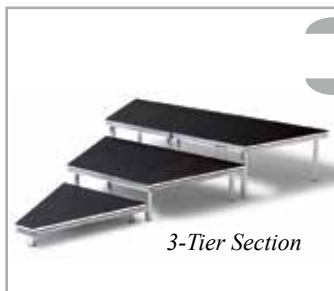

For college concerts, we're handling the staging, skirting and risers. With college help we can set up a 40' x 40' Versalite stage in two hours. We get these jobs because we have the Wenger Versalite decks. The union guys love putting Versalite together instead of scaffolding-style stages. The workers don't get hurt or cut on Versalite. The competitor's 4 x 4 plywood deck with steel scaffolding frame and legs is a clumsy, inferior product. One of those 4 x 4 deck weighs as much as our 4 x 8 Versalite deck. Versalite makes a constant, level platform when set up and Versalite is a nicer-looking stage. The artists also love Versalite. The rock band Guess Who played on them last year and just loved them.

Versalite® is built on the assumption that you have more needs than budget. Musical productions. Graduations. Lectures. Assemblies. Plays. Event headquarters. Outdoor activities. Show choirs. Madrigals. The list goes on long after the money stops. If this is true for you, it's time you started thinking about stretching your budget with Versalite.

With a single set of Versalite decks and interchangeable legs of different lengths, you can create just about any staging setup you need in no time. The Versalite concept is simple — and ingenious. Instead of attached legs, Versalite decks have sturdy leg sockets that hold interchangeable legs that you insert. By using legs of different lengths, a crew of two can turn Versalite into multilevel stages, runways, speaker platforms, seated risers, graduation stages, and just about any other configuration you can imagine — even an ADA-compliant ramp.

IT'S SIMPLY THE MOST VERSATILE AND COST-EFFECTIVE STAGE EVER

With Versalite, you can configure flat or multilevel stages one day and tiered seating the next.

VARIETY OF DECK SIZES, SURFACES AND LEG TYPES

“Versalite staging installs quickly and looks great. We’ve used it for six years, primarily as band platforms. Band members often remark that these platforms feel much more stable than others they’ve used.”

*Ed Knight, President
EventQuip

MAKE IT YOUR OWN WAY

VERSALITE® STAGING FOR MAXIMUM VERSATILITY

"We've used Versalite for almost ten years, primarily in our indoor theater whenever performers need platforms. Working with the legs is very easy. We have twelve 4 x 8s and two 4 x 4s, along with numerous legs ranging from eight to 32 inches. We probably use at least part of our Versalite inventory 40 to 50 times per season, ranging from a single platform to our entire inventory."

VERSALITE® SEATED RISERS FOR MULTIPLE CONFIGURATIONS

"Our Versalite platforms are set up on stage as band or orchestra risers, to elevate the brass or woodwinds. Each group uses a different riser configuration. Versalite's features speed up handling. Platforms are very easy to set up and take down and they lock together very securely. Removing the legs and changing leg sizes is also easy."

Many facilities use Versalite in rehearsal rooms as a way to elevate seating for better sightlines without losing any of the cubic volume critical to good acoustics.

Versalite allows you to create professional-looking seated risers for choral, band and orchestra. Special pie-shaped decks give you unmatched flexibility to create a variety of configurations. Versalite can also be configured into rectangular seated riser setups, which you can further enhance with side and front closure panels for a finished look that also keeps dust and litter from collecting underneath.
